

Interactions Workshop:

Bringing Together Econometrics and Applied Microeconomics

September 21-22, 2018
Northwestern University

FRIDAY
	Room 1410	Kellogg Global Hub
	9:45 – 10:20	Registration and Breakfast – outside KGH 1410
10:20 – 10:30		Welcoming words
10:30 – 11:30		Keynote Talk: E-Optimal Sample Design for Trials and Surveys Charles Manski, Northwestern University
11:30 – 12:30		Identification and Estimation of a Partially Linear Regression Model using Network Data Eric Auerbach, Northwestern University Paper discussed by Giorgio Topa, Federal Reserve Bank of New York
	12:45 – 1:30	Lunch at the Allen Center – SC Johnson Dining Room
1:30 – 2:30		Estimating the Technology of Children’s Skill Formation Francesco Agostinelli, University of Pennsylvania Paper discussed by Jaap Abbring, Tilburg University
2:30 – 3:30		Counterfactual Sensitivity and Robustness Timothy Christensen, New York University Paper discussed by Doug Miller, Cornell University
	3:30 – 4:00	Coffee Break – outside KGH 1410
4:00 – 5:00		Keynote Talk: Identification of Causal Effects with Multiple Instruments: Problems and Some Solutions Magne Mogstad, The University of Chicago

SATURDAY		Room 1410 Kellogg Global Hub
	8:30 – 9:00	Breakfast – outside KGH 1410
9:00 – 10:00		Identification with Latent Choice Sets: The Case of the Head Start Impact Study Vishal Kamat, The University of Chicago and TSE Paper discussed by Pedro Carneiro, University College London
10:00 – 11:00		Quantifying Delay Externalities in Airline Networks John Lazarev, New York University Paper discussed by Jim Powell, University of California - Berkeley
	11:00 – 11:30	Coffee Break – outside KGH 1410
11:30 – 12:30		Leave-out estimation variance components Mikkel Soelvesten, University of Wisconsin - Madison Paper discussed by Azeem Shaikh, The University of Chicago
	12:45 – 1:30	Lunch at the Allen Center – SC Johnson Dining Room
1:30 – 2:30		Understanding Disparities in Punishment: Regulator Preference and Expertise Karam Kang, Carnegie Mellon University Paper discussed by Alberto Abadie, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
2:30 – 3:30		Inference on Winners Adam McCloskey, University of Colorado Paper discussed by Jack Porter, University of Wisconsin-Madison
	3:30 – 4:00	Coffee Break – outside KGH 1410
Conference Ends

Center for Econometrics

Northwestern | Department of Economics